WEEKLY PRAYER

Sunday Readings

Reading 1: Acts 1:1-11
 In the first book, Theophilus, I dealt with all that Jesus did and taught until the day he was taken up, after giving instructions through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen.

Reading 2: Ephesians 1:17-23
 Brothers and sisters: May the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, give you a Spirit of wisdom and revelation resulting in knowledge of him.

Gospel: Matthew 28:16-20
 The eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain to which Jesus had ordered them. When they saw him, they worshiped, but they doubted. Then Jesus approached and said to them, "All power in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you always, until the end of the age."

Solemnity of the Ascension of the Lord

Today marks the Solemnity of the Ascension of the Lord.

The First Reading is from Acts 1:1-11. St. Luke begins his second book, called Acts of the Apostles, with a brief description of our Lord's bodily ascension into heaven, after he had given his Apostles their final instructions. He identifies the exact location of this event as Mount Olivet, both here and in his gospel (24:50). The ascension or the return of Christ to heaven, in his human but glorified body, is the culmination, the sign and seal of the accomplishment of his salvific mission on earth. He, the Son of God, the second divine Person of the Blessed Trinity, became man, lived and died on this earth so that we men could live with God forever in heaven. By his death on the cross, he reconciled sinful man with his divine Creator. His human death earned for us a share in the divine life. His resurrection is the divine guarantee that we too shall rise again, and his ascension to the Father is the prelude to our entrance into God's everlasting kingdom.

The Second Reading is from the Letter of St. Paul to the Ephesians 1:17-23. St. Paul reminded the Ephesians nearly nineteen and a half centuries ago of the marvelous generosity and goodness of God who had made them Christians and sharers-to-be in the glory of Christ, which was the eternal glory of God. The words the Apostle wrote to those first converts were written for us also and are as applicable to us today as they were in the year 61 A.D. He prayed that God would enlighten their minds to try to understand and appreciate the marvelous things God had done for them through the Incarnation, death, resurrection and ascension of our Savior, Jesus Christ.

The Gospel is from Matthew 28:16-20, describing the ascension of Jesus. He gave to his Apostles and through them to their successors, the command the power to bring his message of salvation to all nations and peoples. That day on a hill in Galilee Christ foresaw each one of us here present as his future followers. It was then that the life-giving sacrament of Baptism which made us members of his Church—his mystical body on earth—was instituted. By means of it we were incorporated not only into the Church—the new people of God—but even into the divine family of the Blessed Trinity. We were made brothers of Christ and heirs to heaven.

The Missionary Society of St. Thomas the Apostle (MST)

The Missionary Society of St. Thomas the Apostle was founded in 1968 in India. Since then, the Society has grown steadily and today has 412 missionary priests serving in different parts of the world, especially in the interior villages of India and Africa. At present, around 120 seminarians are in various stages of formation.

This year, our attention is especially directed toward the mission in Delhi, where many children live on the outskirts of the city beside vast waste dumping yards. In the midst of these difficult conditions MST seeks to bring hope and restore dignity through educational opportunities, financial literacy programs, nutritional support, and medical assistance, especially for those who suffer from chronic illnesses. Through these works of charity, we strive to make present the healing and redeeming love of Christ.

Your prayers and generous support are deeply cherished. They strengthen our missionary apostolates and help nurture the formation of our young seminarians as they prepare to dedicate their lives to the service of God and His people.

La Sociedad Misionera de Santo Tomás de Apóstol (MST) fue fundada en 1968 en India. Desde entonces, ha crecido de manera constante y hoy cuenta con 412 sacerdotes misioneros que sirven en diversas partes del mundo, especialmente en las aldeas del interior de India y de Africa. Actualmente, cerca de 120 seminaristas se encuentran en distintas etapas de formación.

Este año, nuestra atención se centra de manera especial en la misión de Delhi, donde numerosos niños viven en las afueras de la ciudad, cerca de grandes vertederos de basura. En medio de estas duras realidades, MST trabaja para sembrar esperanza y dignidad mediante oportunidades educativas, programas de alfabetización financiera, apoyo nutricional y asistencia médica, especialmente para quienes padecen enfermedades crónicas. A través de estas obras de caridad, buscamos hacer presente el amor sanador y redentor de Cristo.

Sus oraciones y generosas contribuciones son profundamente valoradas. Fortalecen nuestra misión y sostienen la formación de nuestros jóvenes seminaristas, que se preparan para entregar su vida al servicio de Dios y de su pueblo.
